Irv Lichenstein, phone 5/13/66

"It doesn't excite me." silence on both ends. "There are more important things", again silence. One can but ponder the important things on his station, and his eye on the license on the wall as we spoke. "Do you want it back?" I said, "No, unless you are afraid to have it". End.